COL. COLLIER HERE TO BOOM SAN DIEGO

His Town Is After the Panama Canal Fair, and Wants Roosevelt to Open It.

A MILLION ALREADY RAISED

And Another Pledged—Determined to Have an Exposition in 1915, Even if Congress Doesn’t Help.

In the hopes of enlisted the aid of Col. Collie in the enterprise, Sen. Elisha Canan, Gal., as the proper place to hold the exposition of world’s fair, to substitute the Panama Canal for the Panama Canal Basin.

Col. D. C. Collie of San Diego, at the opening of the exposition at the opening day, Mr. Collie, said, “As long as the exposition is now being held, it is in the best interests of the exposition.”

Although several coastal and inland cities, including San Francisco, Los Angeles, New Orleans, and Washington, have come forward to claim the honor and have promised to raise several million dollars, Sen. Elisha Canan, Gal., says he is not sure that he can secure the exhibition, whether or not Government aid is extended. He has raised $1,000,000 and his citizens have pledged an additional $2,000,000.

San Diego has a population of 60,000, and this year the city will increase its population to 100,000. San Diego will start with $1,500,000 more than San Francisco, which holds the record of the successful exhibitions in the United States, and $25,000 more than Seattle.
